DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 12-27, drawn to a composition for topical application comprising: kombucha and a pharmaceutically acceptable carrier mixed with said kombucha.

Group II, claim 28, drawn to an article comprising a composition for topical application comprising: kombucha and a pharmaceutically acceptable carrier mixed with said kombucha bound to any materials used for clothing.

Group III, claim 29, drawn to a method of preventing the signs of endogenous and/or exogenous aging comprising the step of applying to the skin, mucosae or skin appendage a composition in accordance with claim 12 or 23.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Claim 1, at least, is anticipated by or obvious over Sarill et al. (US 6,274,564 B1)

because Sarill teaches a composition for topical application comprising kombucha and milk or milk products (See column 16, lines 21-49). Consequently, the special technical feature which links the claims does not provide a contribution over the prior art, so unity of the invention is lacking.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Group I:

Specie A: elect one plant from which kombucha is derived from

Claim 13.

Specie B: elect one plant from which kombucha is derived from Claim 14.

Specie C: elect one form from Claim 18, Claim 20 or Claim 21.

Specie D: elect one form of kombucha from Claim 19.

Specie E: elect one additional ingredient from Claim 22, 25 or 27.

Group II:

Specie A: elect bound to, incorporated in, absorbed in, or adsorbed from Claim 28.

Specie B: elect textiles, natural fibers, synthetic fibers, wools, materials used for clothing, day underwear, night underwear, tights, underclothes, handkerchiefs or cloths from Claim 28.

Group III:

Specie A: elect one skin condition from Claim 29.

Specie B: elect skin, mucosae or skin appendage from Claim 29

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: Claims 12-14, 25, 28 and 29.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The plants in claim 13, the plant in claim 14, the forms in claims 18-21, the additional ingredients of claims 22, 25 and 27, the properties of claim 28, the articles of claim 29, the skin conditions of claim 29 and the parts of the body of claim 29 are distinct both physically and a search for one is not co-extensive with a search for another.
